CIRCUIT COURT

Red Hubbard Gets Off With a Fine and Jail Sentence.

SEVERAL CONVICTIONS

Judge Husbands is Still Unable to Preside on Account of Illness.

WHAT WAS DONE TODAY

Jim Hubbard, charged with maliciously assaulting Thomas Christopher at a South Side saloon some time ago, was sentenced to thirty days in jail and fined $100 for striking in sudden heat and passion, which is light compared with the offense.

Judge Campbell presides at the circuit court again today, Judge Husbands continuing too ill to hear the cases.

Robert Reeves, colored, who broke into McPherson's drug store and stole money from the cash drawer, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. The negro was employed at the drug store as porter.

Charles Elliott, who was employed by the Terrell Bros. when their Buckskin Bill show was on the road, pleaded guilty to obtaining money by false pretenses and was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary. The boy wrote a note to the Terrell Bros. saying that his board was due and asking for money. The boarding house keepers' name was signed to the note and the money was given to the boy. It was afterwards learned that the youth pocketed the money and the warrants were issued.

El Keeling, colored, who several days ago received a sentence of three years to the penitentiary, made a motion for a new trial.

General Brooks, colored, who maliciously and wilfully shot Hiram Hanon at 900 Washington street several weeks ago, pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary.

William Whitfield, colored, who broke into an L. C. box car and stole several garments of wearing apparel more than two months ago also pleaded guilty to the offense and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

Charles Hall, colored, who broke into the residence of Mr. Joseph Peter, the jeweler, and stole jewelry, was sentenced to two years after having pleaded guilty.

A fee of $250.75 was yesterday allowed Hendrick and Miller for representing P. L. Ramsey in a damage suit against Erler & Co., the sewerage subcontractors. The money comes out of the balance paid over to the court by the city, amounting to $466.05.

The grand jury yesterday afternoon brought in about twenty or thirty indictments against saloon keepers, lawless house keepers and others, who have not been arrested.

The case against Will Lyles and Bob McCormick, grand larceny; James Forest, grand larceny; Rufe Veal, obtaining money by false pretenses and Harry Woods, robbery, were ignored by the grand jury and no indictments returned.

In the case of L. G. Sadler against P. L. Ramsey, a judgment was rendered against the defendant who was ordered to settle the claim and the costs.

De Grace, colored, who has served a two year sentence in the penitentiary before, was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary this morning for robbery. He threatened to cut the throat of Frank Hughes and took all his money and a pair of shoes.

Allie Morton, who is charged with having stolen $10 from Yopp, the grocer, was on trial this afternoon at press time.

THE TRIPLE ALLIANCE

SAID TO BE ECLIPSED. London, Sept. 18.—The Vienna correspondent of the Times says that a semi-official communication to the Politische Zeitung relating to Russia, Germany and France, supposed to have emanated from a high Russian personage, significantly avoids all mention to Austria.

While, however, the triple alliance thus seems to be eclipsed, it is asserted that there is no apprehension, and the insinuations that the interview between the kaiser and czar has caused umbrage in Vienna are not taken seriously.

A LARGE ATTENDANCE

Addresses Will Be Made By Hon. E. W. Bagby and Rev. G. W. Perryman.

OTHER SERVICES TOMORROW

Memorial services in Paducah tomorrow in honor of the dead president will be held at the Broadway M. E. church. There will be a general suspension of business and it is probable the gathering will be one never equalled in sincerity or numbers in the city of Paducah.

Most, if not all, of the factories will close, and the schools were all dismissed this afternoon until Friday. The business houses will shut up at 10 o'clock and the city will appropriately do honor to the memory of President McKinley.

The following is the program for tomorrow morning's exercises:

FINE MUSICIANS.

Director Carl Beck Arrives With the Kentucky's Orchestra Saturday.

Electrician Blackburn Tells of What a Fine House Paducah Has.

Manager J. E. English has received word from Mr. Carl Beck, director of the Kentucky's orchestra that he will arrive in Paducah Saturday. Mr. Beck is now in Evansville and has selected only the best musicians.

Mr. W. J. Blackburn, the expert electrician who has contract for lighting "The Kentucky" and who is rapidly finishing the contract, stated to a Sun reporter this morning that "The Kentucky" was the handsomest theater he ever had the pleasure of working in during his 25 years' experience, and it is a well known fact that Mr. Blackburn has wired some of the handsomest and most expensive theatres in the country. After the completion of "The Kentucky" Mr. Blackburn goes to Cincinnati to wire the Grand opera house there which is being erected at a cost of $250,000.

Mr. Blackburn went on to say that "The Kentucky" was twenty years in advance of a town of 25,000 inhabitants, and that every citizen in Paducah could point with pride that no other town in America of this size contains a play house second to none in the entire country. Mr. Blackburn will finish his contract before the opening Tuesday night but will remain here to see the opening attraction and to see what kind of a crowd Paducah turns out in honor of such an event.

RIGHT SIDE.

DR. MURRELL DISCOVERS A PATIENT WITH A PECULIARLY LOCATED HEART.

Dr. D. G. Murrell, the chief physician of the local Illinois Central hospital, has made a discovery which was announced yesterday for the first time although he has known of the case for some time.

Mr. Charlie Smith, an employee of the Illinois Central blacksmith shop, was injured yesterday and taken to the hospital for treatment. It was then that a more thorough examination was made and the fact that the patient's heart is on his right side instead of the left revealed. The case is one out of ten thousand and has few companions. The heart's displacement causes the young man no inconvenience and he would not know it was on that side had the examination not been made.

ONE ROUTE.

GOVERNMENT INSPECTOR LAYS IT OFF THIS MORNING.

Inspector Rising, of the postoffice department, was in the city today, and laid off one of the rural routes for this county, the only one authorized at present. It goes out on the Woodville road to Heath, thence to LaMont, and back to Paducah, a distance of twenty-five miles, and serving three hundred houses.

It is certain that McCracken county is to get two additional routes, to be laid off later when petitions are prepared and forwarded.

THE REMAINS REACH CANTON

Thousands View the Body as It Rests In State at His Beloved Home.

Last Sad Rites To-morrow—Yesterday's Impressive Services—The Funeral Train Viewed by Grief-stricken Thousands as It Passed.

HOME AT LAST.

Canton, O., Sept. 18.—All that is mortal of William McKinley is being viewed by thousands as his body lies in state here.

After the nation had officially and with state ceremony paid its tribute of respect and love to the memory of its chief magistrate, which was almost the closing act of the awful tragedy that has drenched the civilized world in tears, the funeral train started for Canton, reaching there today.

YESTERDAY'S SERVICES.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Beneath the great white dome of the capitol funeral services of state were conducted yesterday in accordance with the rites of the Methodist Episcopal church, of which the president was a life-long member. They consisted chiefly of hymn, prayer, an address and a benediction. Gathered around the bier were representatives of every phase of American national life, including the president and the only surviving ex-president of the United States, together with representatives at this capital of almost every nation on the earth. Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Spain and all the republics to the southward of the United States mingled their tears with those of the American people.

As the sweet notes of Mr. McKinley's favorite hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light," floated through the great rotunda the assembly rose to its feet. Bared heads were bowed and eyes streamed with tears. At the conclusion of the hymn as Rev. Dr. Naylor, presiding elder of the Washington district, rose to offer prayer, the hush that fell upon the people was profound. When, in conclusion, he repeated the Lord's prayer the great audience joined solemnly with him and the murmur of their voices resembled the roll of far distant surf.

Scarcely had the word Amen been breathed when the words of the song, "Some Time We'll Understand" went straight to the heart of every auditor. The solo was sung by Mrs. Thomas C. Noyes, of this city, and the refrain was echoed and re-echoed by the double quartette choir.

The venerable bishop, Edwin G. Andrews, of Ohio, the oldest of the Methodist Episcopal church, took his position at the head of the bier. A gentle breeze through the rotunda stirred the delicate blooms which lay upon the coffin.

Stops are being made only at division points to change engines.

SUIT ON NOTE.

J. C. Pieper filed a suit against G. H. and J. M. Johnson, L. B. Morrow and I. H. Rogers this morning to enforce the payment of a balance and interest of $18.93, on a note. The suit was filed in Judge Emery's court.

NOTICE TO PUBLIC.

Arrangements have been completed for the union memorial services advocated by the Ministerial Association, and Mayor Lang today issued the following proclamation:

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC. Union memorial services will be held at the Broadway Methodist church from 10 o'clock until 12 o'clock, on Thursday morning September 19, 1901 to commemorate the death of the chief executive of our national government, contemporaneous with the funeral services at the late home of the deceased president.

The meeting will be addressed by Rev. G. W. Perryman, pastor of the First Baptist church of the city and E. W. Bagby, Esq.

The citizens of Paducah are respectfully requested to close places of business on the above date, at the hour named, and attend this meeting thereby giving expression to the fact that patriotism has first place in the hearts of American citizenship, and that dissensions incident to political opinions are altogether subordinate thereto. Very respectfully,

JAS. M. LANG, Mayor.

LATE RAILROAD INTELLIGENCE

Engine No. 542 jumped the track at Fulton last night and then turned over. The wrecking train was sent out from Paducah to place the engine on the track again. The accident delayed the regular passenger train some little time as the main line was blocked and it was impossible to go around the wreck. No one was injured and the early morning accommodation was effected in no way from the accident. The engine is slightly damaged but the total damages will amount to little.

Mr. David A. Johnson, an employee of the local repairing shops, was injured on the hip yesterday afternoon while taking out the end gate of a car. The gate fell loose before he expected it to come down and knocked him to the ground. He fell in advance of the gate which struck him in the hip as he lay on the ground, inflicting a very painful wound. He was taken to the hospital, where the gash was sewed up. He is also badly bruised as a result of the fall, and will be off duty for some little time.

Mr. Charlie Smith, an employee of the local Illinois Central blacksmith shop, met with an accident yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock that deprived him of the first finger of his left hand. He was at work at the bolting machine, a machine that turns out a bolt head from a bar of iron. His hand was drawn into the machine and before he was able to extricate it his finger was mashed so badly that it will be necessary to amputate the member.

It is not expected that definite announcement of who got the contract for rebuilding the planing mill here will be received until tomorrow. It is reported in railroad circles that Contractor F. W. Katterjohn secured both the planing mill contract and the one for closing the big tunnel near Louisville.

Mr. Nat Brooks, the stenographer in the office of Master Mechanic Barton will leave tonight for Louisville on a month's vacation. He will go from Louisville north to Chicago and other northern cities. Mr. Alvan Hathaway, of Louisville, who has been working extra in the Fulton office, has arrived and is being broken in today. He will act as Mr. Brooks' substitute in his absence.

Mr. Jack Armstrong, a car inspector in the freight yards at Sixth and Campbell streets met with a painful accident yesterday. He fell on a nail while climbing down from a car yesterday afternoon late and drove a nail through his hand. The injury was dressed at the hospital and he will be on the retired list for several days as a result of the accident.

Mr. Frank Konens, of the yardmaster's department of the local Illinois Central, has resigned from that department and gone to the freight house on Sixth and Campbell streets. He is succeeded by Mr. John Danaher who was promoted from night train clerk to day train clerk. Mr. E. T. Stevenson succeeds Mr. Danaher and is succeeded in turn by Mr. Pete Beadles. Mr. Beadles' former position is filled by Mr. O. A. Mitchell who is succeeded by Mr. J. G. Hunter, of Princeton. The change was announced yesterday afternoon and took place immediately.

Mr. Benjamin Mann, a train dispatcher of Louisville, formerly with the L. and N. railroad, arrived in the city last night to be broken in here at the local dispatcher's office. Mr. Allen J. Jorgenson, the chief dispatcher, will leave shortly for a thirty days' vacation, his leave of absence arriving this morning. He has not decided where he will go. Mr. Mann will turn third trick while second dispatcher Alvey will act as chief dispatcher. Dispatcher Ferguson, who is now third dispatcher, will go into Dispatcher Alvey's position during the change. Mr. Jorgenson will probably leave this week.

Mr. John Dugger, formerly of the master mechanic's office here, has returned from Mississippi where he had gone to accept a position under Roadmaster L. A. Washington, of the Gulf and Ship Island road. Mr. Dugger did not like the country and re-

CASE PASSED

The Commonwealth Not Ready to Try Bulger.

SET FOR DECEMBER 9TH

The Two Women Were Released on Their Own Recognizance—Bonds Reduced.

PADUCAH CROWD COMES HOME

The commonwealth yesterday afternoon continued the cases against John Bulger, John Gaynor, Minnie Gaynor and Frankie White, charged with rape and conspiracy to rape, in the Livingston circuit court, until December 9.

Judge Nunn called the cases at Smithland and the commonwealth asked a continuance on the ground that the witnesses were not all present.

The two women were released on their own recognizance, and returned home today.

Bulger's bond was fixed at $750 and Gaynor's at $300, and they will probably give it before December.

Frank Eich, one of the accused, was not indicted by the grand jury and returned home several days ago. The facts in the case are well known. The crowd is charged with having taken Edith May Beasley, a 14 year old girl, to Livingston's Point several weeks ago and kept her two nights and a day, repeatedly outraging her.

Judge Husbands, at the beginning of the present term of court, decided that the case came under the jurisdiction of the Livingston circuit court, and the defendants were taken there for trial, all but Eich being indicted.

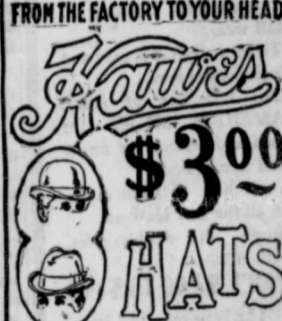

Attorneys Cross and Gilbert, who went up to defend, and about a dozen witnesses who were summoned from Paducah returned home today.

AGAIN IN JAIL.

WILL McCURE ARRESTED SERVE A FINE.

Will McClure, white, who was arrested and fined $20 and costs in Squire Barber's court several weeks ago for engaging in a fight in the St. John's neighborhood during a picnic on the first of August, was arrested yesterday and landed in jail to serve out his fine. He was released some time ago, after agreeing to pay the fine, but on failure to do so was again arrested and will now have to stand confinement for his offense. He was arrested in Graves county yesterday morning and brought to Paducah yesterday afternoon.

DAILY THOUGHT.

"As the nation sorrow for the death of the President, all America is linked in love such as never existed before, and which has been brought about by the death of this great and noble man."

HEALTHIER LITERATURE DEMANDED.

The Memphis Commercial-Appeal, in an able article, takes the position that pessimism and anarchy are closely akin, and that the former sometimes compels the other. It mentions as four pessimists who have had a great influence with the reading public: Henry George, author of "Progress and Poverty"; Edward Bellamy, of "Looking Backward"; W. D. Howells, "A Traveler From Altruria," and the man who wrote "Divide Up and Start Even." Howells is given credit for being worst of them all because he has the greatest influence with the more intelligent people. It adds:

"These four writers represent four leading classes of pessimists in this country who, each in his way, is unconsciously, perhaps, inflaming the natural spirit of discontent into hopeless pessimism which fancies it sees and feels things at their worst and this admission invites the iconoclast and practically gives him license to tear down established order in an attempt to erect new edifices of his own design, and which he believes will prove satisfactory. The more radical and violent among the iconoclasts, the anarchists believe, as the name suggests, that by lopping off the head of civilized society they kill the body and hence kings and presidents and rulers are killed in a fatuous attempt to realize the aspiration."

"The pessimist, and especially those here mentioned, would turn horror-stricken from the ghastly suggestion of murder as a cure for the ills they complain of, or as a means of realizing the blessings and blisses conjured up by their fertile brains, but the logical outcome of their teachings, like the logical outcomes of the more brutally frank yellow journals, is disorder and violence."

"A healthier literature is demanded, a literature and a public sentiment, that, while admitting things are not and can never be perfect, realize that the world has grown and is growing much better, and that will raise up the human heart in reverent exaltation and thankfulness to God for the manifold blessings vouchsafed us."

THE NEW PRESIDENT'S POLICY.

President Roosevelt according to the dispatches, met a number of his personal friends, and those members of the cabinet who were there, and discussed with them his plans, so far as formulated, for the conduct of public affairs, and his own policy. He said when he took the oath of office that he would endeavor to continue unbroken the policy of President McKinley and judging from the outline he will do so. It is said that this policy as detailed to his friends will be for a more liberal and extensive reciprocity in the purchase and sale of commodities, so that the overproduction of this country can be safely disposed of by fair and equitable arrangements with foreign countries; the abolition entirely of commercial war with other countries and the adoption of reciprocity treaties; the abolition of such tariffs on foreign goods as are no longer needed for revenue, if such abolition can be had without harm to our industries and labor. Direct commercial lines should be established between the eastern coast of the United States and the ports in South America and the Pacific coast ports of Mexico, Central America, and South America; the encouraging of merchant marine and the building of ships which shall carry the American flag and be owned and controlled by Americans and American capital. The building and completion as soon as possible of the isthmian canal so as to give direct water communication with the coast of Central America, South America and Mexico. The construction of a cable owned by the government, connecting our mainland with our foreign possessions, notably Hawaii and the Philippines; the use of conciliatory methods of arbitration in all disputes with foreign nations so as to avoid armed strife; the protection of the savings of the people in banks and in other forms of investment by the preservation of the commercial prosperity of the country and the placing in positions of trust men of only the highest integrity.

Congressman Candler, of Mississippi, is out in some sound views regarding a law to crush out anarchy. He thinks that it should be an offense punishable by death for any man, or combination of men, to conspire together to kill the president, or to make an attempt to take his life, or to kill him, or to conspire to kill or attempt to kill, or to kill the vice-president, or any of the heads of the departments. He declared that the killing of such a great and good man as William McKinley, who was so amiable and lovable in his personal and private character, and for whom everybody, regardless of politics, had the greatest admiration, has struck the country with horror, and that he believed that the law-abiding element of our citizenship would, with practical unanimity, approve of the passage of such a law.

The discussion of whether or not the bullet with which President McKinley was shot was poisoned is entirely unnecessary and the American public is in no wise benefited by the opinion of this man or that. If the bullet had been poisoned it couldn't have done more deadly work. If it wasn't poisoned the same result has been attained.

It seems to be the general opinion in official circles that President Roosevelt will preserve intact, as far as possible, President McKinley's cabinet. This will insure to the great business interests of the country a safe and conservative foreign and financial policy.

"Judge Cantrell of Kentucky, who is a candidate for the United States senate, is the only man, so far, who has sought to make political capital out of the assassination of the president," declares the Memphis Commercial-Appeal, Democrat.

President McKinley was an Elk, and the Ohio Elks, meeting this week in reunion, at Cleveland, will have on Thursday night instead of the ball announced a lodge of sorrow.

We learn from a contemporary that a "jail" delivery was attempted at the lockup. Wonders never cease.

ODD FELLOWS ON PARADE.

THE NEXT MEETING OF THE GRAND LODGE WILL PROBABLY GO TO DES MOINES.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 18.—Yesterday was the first big day of the Odd Fellows' meeting. It was the day of the parade. Thousands of the three-link fraternity were in the city. All incoming trains were crowded, and from early morning the streets showed to what extent the number of visitors had been augmented. No attempt was made officially to determine the number actually here. Those in charge of the local arrangements said the attendance was highly gratifying and that there was promise of a heavy attendance all through the week. There will be attractions every day. The program was as follows:

Sessions Sovereign Grand Lodge, State Capitol, 9 a. m.

Great street parade, 1:30 p. m.

Reception by Rebekahs and other women at Tomlinson Hall, 7:30 p. m.

Annual meeting of Fraternal Press Association at home of F. F. Reynolds, 7:30 p. m.

Band parade, 8 p. m.

Receptions and entertainments by lodges of Marion county at courthouse day and evening.

Reception by women of Detroit at Detroit headquarters, evening.

While no official action has been taken, it is felt by many members of the Sovereign Grand Lodge that its next meeting, a year hence, will be held at Des Moines, Ia. The Iowa delegation is making strenuous efforts to capture the next meeting, and its proposition meets with wide favor. Eureka Springs, Ark., is also a formidable competitor for the honor.

HE COULD LOSE ANYTHING.

A German band, which had been engaged to play at Coney Island one afternoon, was given the privilege of roaming at will through the place after they had played a certain stipulated time. Accordingly, when their duty for the afternoon had been performed, the leader of the band gave each of the musicians a ticket back to New York, thinking it would be best to allow his men to return any time they wished and not try to come back in a body.

The bass drum artist, a corpulent old Teuton, wandered off by himself and proceeded to patronize all the various purveyors of cooling drinks he could find. Some blithering idiot led him down to the pier about sunset and aboard the ferry. He curled himself upon a convenient pile of rope and was preparing to lose what little consciousness he still possessed, when the purser hit him on the back and asked for his ticket. The bass drum artist looked into the purser's face and smiled, but made no reply.

"Come, come, where is your ticket?"

The German looked confused and muttered something about not having any ticket.

"You must have a ticket somewhere about your clothes," said the blue coated official, impatiently.

The German insisted that he had not.

"Look here, Dutchy, you couldn't have come aboard without a ticket. Guess again."

"Vull, I don't got him now. I guess I lose him."

"Lose, it? You couldn't lose it."

"Not lose dot leadle ticket! Vy, mein Gott, I lose mein bass drum!"

FOUND A FILE.

SOME OF THE BARS HAD BEEN TAMPERED WITH AT THE LOCKUP.

Lockup Keeper Menifee ascertained last evening that some of the prisoners in the lockup were contemplating a delivery. He went below and found a file in possession of Rocky Level, a negro who filed the end of his finger nearly off while sharpening a shovel with it, and concealed it when returned to the lockup. It seems the prisoners had been filing at the bars during all of one night, and were making good progress. The file was taken away and all were locked securely up in their cells and will have their privileges curtailed in the future.

CONSUMPTION THREATENED.

C. Unger, 212 Maple street, Champaign, Ill., writes, "I was troubled with a hacking cough for a year and I thought I had consumption. I tried a great many remedies and was under the care of physicians for several months. I used one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar. It cured me and I have not been troubled since."

THE FOURTH ACQUITTED.

The fourth negro accused of the murder of Wash Thomas, at Wickliffe, last week, was tried and acquitted yesterday at Wickliffe. The other three were hanged by a mob last week.

Mr. G. A. Stillman, a merchant of Tampico, Ill., writes: "Foley's Kidney Cure is meeting with wonderful success. It has cured some cases here that physicians pronounced incurable. I myself am able to testify to its merits. My face today is a living picture of health, and Foley's Kidney Cure made it such."

SHELVING YOUNG MEN OF FIFTY.

"We hear a great deal these days about 'the dead line' in the ministerial calling," says William Matthews in the Saturday Evening Post. "At fifty years of age, or even forty, a preacher is said to have reached this imaginary, line, at which he is supposed to be superannuated, although he should be, and commonly is, at the very floodtide of his power. Churches of all denominations, want, therefore, young pastors. If they are but newly fledged from their nests at Andover, Newton or Princeton, so much the better. But can the student who graduated at a theological seminary one, five or ten years ago possibly have the learning, pastoral experience, knowledge of men, wisdom, tact, canonic parables, which the grey-headed pastor has accumulated by thirty or forty years of study, sermonizing, trial and pastoral toil? Our 'slow' forefathers, who lived before the days of steam and electric travel, telephones and short-cut courses of education, thought not. Of course they knew well enough that there were exceptional men, a Jonathan Edwards, a Jeremy Taylor, a Nathaniel Emmons—as at a late day there were a Buckminster, a Channing, a Bushnell, a Sumnerfield, a Starr King—in whom genius could supply the place of years of study and experience. But, for the preacher of average natural gifts, they deemed these pre-requisites to success."

"Old" and "young" are purely relative terms. It is not the grey hairs on a man's head, the crow's-feet about his eyes or the wrinkles on his face that prove him old, but the lack of force and fire, of elastic hope and faith, of mental and spiritual power. When the pastor of the First Congregational church in Boston died, in 1863, the church resolved to supply his place by a young man, and accordingly elected Mr. Davenport, of New Haven, then seventy years old.

There are men of sixty and seventy, and even eighty years, who are brimming with enthusiasm and energy, and there are others but thirty years old who are bankrupt in both. "The dead line," which is supposed to threaten clergymen chiefly, exists as really in every other calling; but it is one which is fixed at no age, and is drawn, not by fate or providence, but by each man for himself.

The preacher draws it when he is self-satisfied and stops growing mentally and spiritually; when he ceases to keep abreast with the thought, science and improved processes of his time. Chalmers, Robert Hall, Bushnell, Wayland, Edwards Park, never reached the line in question. They did not, at any period of their lives, lay down their oars and float with the current. They knew that mentally, a man cannot simply mark time; that, like Virgil's boatman, si braccia forte remigat—if he relaxes his efforts he is carried backward. They continued to the last alive in every fibre, interested in every new advance of thought and if they had each lived and studied for a century they never would have thought of tying up at any time their special stocks of knowledge, and labeling them complete. Many of the liveliest, most energetic and most receptive clergymen, we know—men who keep all the windows of the mind open to new ideas—are past sixty.

Of course there are languid, spiritless old men in the ministry, as in all other callings, but, in the great majority of cases old age found them—it did not make them—such.

If it was a preacher of this stamp whom a venerable father-in-law is said to have taken by the whiskers and warned: 'You had better dye these, for, if you leave your present charge nobody will call you with such a badge of advanced life,' the advice was not the wisest. It was his brains that needed dyeing, not his whiskers."

Observations
....at Random
"If," said a dealer in such things to a New York paper, "any body had told our grandfathers that the time would come when we should have ball-bearing grindstones I suppose they would have thought he was crazy, but we have them now and they are not very costly either."
"If the grindstone is one that is worked with a treadle there are ball bearings on the crank, where the treadle-rod is connected, as well as on the shaft on which the grindstone turns. Really, it is a pleasure to see that homely old tool, the grindstone, mounted on ball-bearings, and it is a positive delight to see how easily such a grindstone turns."
"But the ball bearings are not the only modern improvement in grindstone equipment. There are nowadays grindstone frames and attachments that are patented. The old, old way of turning a grindstone was with a crank, or a single treadle; but nowadays we have double treadles, one for each foot, and the frame that supports the grindstone has upon one end of it a seat like the seat you see on a mowing machine or anything of that sort, this being by no means a device for a lazy man, but a convenient means of enabling the man using the grindstone to get at it to the best advantage."
"If you, knowing the grindstone of ancient times, will picture to yourself a man sitting in a comfortable seat so placed on the end of the frame that he can get square at the face of the stone, which he turns by means of two treadles, one under each foot, the stone itself turning on ball bearings throughout, a grindstone yet to be sure, but with every working part distinctly modernized, you will get some idea of the difference between the old grindstone and the new."

The young married couple was greatly surprised, not to say chagrined, to find when their baggage was next seen after having been checked in the depot here, that conspicuous placards adorned it on every side something like this:
"WE ARE JUST MARRIED."
"PUT US OFF AT BUFFALO."
"PLEASE DO NOT STARE AT US."
"YOU CAN'T LOSE US, SO DON'T LOSE OUR BAGGAGE."
The cards were attached and closely watched by the friends of the couple who like a practical joke, and are doubtless still on the trunk.

Nelson Forbes of London, who is at present in this city, says the New York Times, is responsible for a little story which would seem to indicate that the Duke of Cornwall and York, whose visit to Canada takes place this week, shares the prevailing English lack of realization of the "magnificent distance" in this country as contrasted with condition on Albion's tight little island.
It was at first intended that the royal tour should embrace a visit to the United States, and in talking over the arrangements for the itinerary the Duke according to the story for which Mr. Forbes stands sponsor, asked if while at Toronto it would be possible to run down to the Yellowstone park over Sunday.
It does not appear to be clear whether the heir to the British throne was having a little fling at the dullness of Toronto Sundays, the reputation of which may have extended across the ocean, or whether the question was really due to the deficiencies of the royal knowledge of geography.

A New York exchange gives the following:
"There's a strange feature of modern American life for you," said a gray-haired man in the cafe of Weber and Field's between the acts one night last week, as he pointed toward a group of young men congregated about one of the tables. There were five men in the group indicated. Three were in evening dress and the other two were in business suits, as if they had just left their desks in some office and gone to the play.
All were young men, and the oldest of the number rather stout and smiling, with smooth face and dark hair brushed carefully back from his forehead, was apparently not more than 35. He wore a dinner coat as if he were not very well used to this sort of garb and was in a very slight degree self-conscious. This man drank lemonade; the others took beer. The group would be taken casually for a party of young clerks having an evening at the play. They were full of good spirits and joked and laughed as if they had not a care in the world. The eldest man of the party did not volunteer any jokes, but laughed uproariously at the others.
"One would hardly believe," said the gray-haired man, "that that young fellow was Charles M. Schwab, president of the greatest industrial corporation in the world, and receiving a million dollars a year for his services. Those others around him are indeed what they appear to be—clerks in some of the big down town offices."
"Hard to find such a group in any European city, eh? And yet here's where the paradox comes in. See those two men standing over there by that column keeping an eye on the group? Those are detectives. They are near that young man night and day."

MUCH INTEREST.
Y. M. C. A. Secretaries' Conference
at Villa Ridge, Pewee Valley.
The Session Will Last Two Days—
Many Expected to Attend the Meeting.

The annual conference of the general and assistant secretaries and physical directors of Young Men's Christian Associations of Kentucky began today at the Villa Ridge Inn, Pewee Valley, and continues until tomorrow night. A comprehensive program on the work of the association and the secretary's relation thereto, has been arranged. Especial prominence will be given to the consideration of boys' work. Messrs. W. L. McNair and H. E. Mechlberg, of Louisville; Thomas Johnson, of Lexington, and E. M. Robinson, Boys' Work Secretary International committee, New York, participating in the discussion. The work of the secretary as a leader and organizer will be discussed by Messrs. L. J. Barter, of Bowling Green; D. D. Taylor, of Russell, and Julian L. Smith, of Shelbyville. Messrs. W. G. Escott, of Paducah, and W. R. Pearson, of Covington, will read papers on "Fundamental Principles in the Physical Department." Mr. W. C. Paige, of Louisville, will present "Kentucky's Obligations to the Young Men of Foreign Lands," and "Educational Work in the State" will be discussed by Mr. F. J. Michel, assistant state secretary. A series of three "Quiet Talks" will be given by Mr. S. D. Gordon, of Cleveland, O., and the closing topic will be presented by Mr. H. E. Rosevear, state secretary, on "A Religious Work Policy for the Year."

The steady increase in the number of secretaries in Kentucky is a good indication of the growth and strength of the work. In 1889, when Mr. Rosevear began work as the first state secretary of Kentucky, there were two secretaries and three assistants in the state. Today there is a total of 35 men employed by the association as secretaries, assistants and physical directors, a gain of seven during the past twelve months. There has also been a corresponding growth in the secretarial force of the state committee. Beside the state secretary, three assistants are now employed to aid in the work of supervision, development, and organization. This is a number slightly exceeded by only three other states, New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois and places Kentucky among the foremost states in the strength of its state work.

Secretary Escott, as stated elsewhere, left this morning to attend.

OSTEOPATHY.
Almost every day I am asked by some one as to the diseases healed by Osteopathy and I find that the majority have an idea that it "would be good for rheumatism," but express surprise when told that Osteopathy treats successfully all curable diseases and many that are not treated successfully by other systems, especially in the chronic diseases and in female troubles.
Perhaps you are a sufferer and while you may have heard of Osteopathy like a great many others you just take it for granted that it cannot reach your case and so fail to investigate it any further thereby depriving yourself perhaps of your only means of securing relief. Let me say to all such that you are the loser thereby and that the lower your case stands the harder it will be to cure. Perhaps you have not lost hope having tried every remedy suggested to you. Then why not try Osteopathy or at least investigate it concerning your own individual case. "While there is life there is hope," and numerous cases perhaps just similar to your own have been cured, then why not yours?
Your address and a statement of your case will bring to you journals explaining the treatment or what is better still if you will call at my office I will take a pleasure in consulting with you concerning your trouble free of charge, and if I think I can benefit you will tell you so and if I cannot do you any good I will be equally as frank.

A CHEMIST'S DISCOVERY.
WORKED FOR ANARCHIST AND LEARNED SECRET BEARING
OUT THE POISONED BULLET THEORY.
J. B. Norton, a chemist employed by the wholesale drug house of W. H. Williams & Co., of Fort Worth, Texas, is reported as saying that it has all along been his opinion that the assassin's bullet which entered the President's body and finally killed him, was poisoned in order that the work might be all the more certain. He states that at one time he was clerk in a drug store in a town in Texas conducted by an avowed anarchist. One day while following his regular daily duties he came across a small phial containing an unusual looking liquid. Without the knowledge of the proprietor of the store, the young man analyzed the contents of the bottle and discovered that it was a rank poison. With curiosity aroused he went to the proprietor of the store and asked what the liquid was and was told that it was uncommon poison and that all anarchists knew what it was and carried it with them.

The proprietor said it was called "cyanide," and was used by the natives of South America to poison the heads of their arrows. The young chemist, after making this discovery, remained only a short time with his anarchist employer, coming to Fort Worth, where he has been for several years. Discussing the fact of anarchists knowing how to make explosives, Mr. Norton said this morning that all he was instructed how to compound dynamite and green fire, the latter one of the most destructive explosives. Cyanide is made by the natives of South America living along the upper Amazon and Orinoco and is used in tipping arrows. All the anarchists in the inner groups know the deadly effect of cyanide and keep it on hand. It is not found in the United States other than in the hands of the anarchists. It effects directly the heart and is always fatal.

SSS and OLD PEOPLE
Bad Circulation is the cause of most of the ills that come with old age. With advancing years there is a decline of strength and vigor—the machinery of the body moves with less speed and accuracy. Because of the weak and irregular action of the heart the blood moves more slowly, becomes impure and loses much of its life-sustaining properties, and muscles, tissues and nerves literally starve for lack of nourishment. A sluggish and polluted circulation is followed by a long train of bodily ailments. Cold feet, chilly sensations up and down the spine, poor appetite and digestion, soreness of the muscles, rheumatic pains, hard and flaccid skin, face sores, chronic running ulcers on the lower limbs and other parts of the body—these and many other diseases peculiar to old people are due to a lack of healthy blood and imperfect circulation. Restoration to health must come through the building up and purification of the blood, thus adding strength and tone to the vital organs and quick, healthy action to the circulation.

S. S. S. being strictly a vegetable blood remedy and the best tonic, makes it the most valuable and efficacious of all medicine for old people. It is free from all mineral ingredients, and mild and pleasant in its action. It cures blood diseases of every character, even those inherited or contracted in early life. As the system gets under the influence of S. S. S. there is a marked improvement in the general health, and as richer and purer blood begins to circulate through the body the appetite improves, and there is a softness and elasticity about the skin that you have not noticed for years; sores begin to heal, pains in muscles and joints gradually cease, and you find that it is possible to be happy and healthy even in old age. Our medical department is in charge of physicians who make a study of blood and skin diseases. If you would like to have their opinion and advice in your case, write them all about it and you will receive such information and advice as you want. This will cost you nothing. Others have found our medical department of great benefit to them—their cure being much more rapid as the result of some special directions received from our physicians.
Don't be your own doctor when you can get medical advice free. Book on Blood and Skin Diseases mailed to all who desire it.

ADVERTISEMENT NO. 7.

Starting a Busy Fall Campaign.

New Fall Merchandise Comes Tumbling in Every Day.

We are now ready, and signs point to the busiest selling we have ever known.

The fact that our business has been growing larger is evidence of the public's appreciation and clearly indicates that our prices are lowest and the values the best.

A Grand Stock of New Fall Dress Goods.

We are starting the season with the largest stock of Dress Goods we have ever shown before.

We took lots of pains in the purchase of these Dress Goods. Some from this factory, some from that factory, some from this importer, some from that importer, picking the best here, yonder and wherever the best was to be had.

We offer you the choice of this collection at prices low, consistent with the quality. You'll find them worthy qualities of a special saving.

September is the time to begin to cast about for your best fall dress, and we assure you of our preparedness and willingness to work to your best interest when you are ready to see, or buy Dress Goods.

We would attempt a description with detailed prices, but to see and finger these goods is necessary to the formation of a right opinion of their true merit and worthiness. You are cordially invited to look them over.

Remnant Selling.

We have heap and piles of remnants resulting from former large sales.

You can now buy the remnants considerably under price.

Separate Skirts and Coat Suits.

Our stock is one grand succession of really special values—merely reading of them will not convey the favorable impression made possible by the splendid quality of the skirts and suits themselves.

We simply ask you to lay your separate skirt or coat suit want before us and we will endeavor to make it to your liking and advantage to let us supply your separate skirt or coat suit want.

New Fall Millinery.

This first showing of new fall ready-to-wear Hats is memorable for its variety as well as its richness and beauty.

There has never before been a time in our business history when the ready-to-wear Hats were as striking as this season.

We are now preparing for our "Millinery opening" which will be the Millinery event of the season.

Clothing.

Boy's serviceable suits for school and dress at lower prices than others will sell 'em to you—it is a broad assertion, but measure us up to it and you'll find it true.
